

I would love to see the FCC restrict a media group's ownership of television and radio stations. With only ten major corporations controlling the information that reaches me, the American consumer, I feel cheated. I believe that if more independent companies were allowed the resources to broadcast news, then I would be better informed. And the American public NEEDS to be informed, especially now.